Faculte Saint-Jean Honorary Degrees

A chronicler of the history of Faculté Saint-Jean would undoubtedly have to devote several lines to the events of 4 May 1979. That is the day the Faculté, in cooperation with the University of Alberta Senate, will hold a Special Convocation to honor the graduating class of 29 students and award honorary degrees to Acadian writer and teacher Antonine Maillet and to a former Rector and Dean of Collège Saint-Jean, Father Arthur Lacerte.

The Faculté will also be celebrating the faculty status which it was accorded in the fall of 1977.

The Special Convocation will begin at 4 p.m. in the newly renovated Convocation Hall. At 6 p.m., a banquet and dance will get underway in the Macdonald Hotel. Myer Horowitz, President-Elect of the University, will speak at the banquet. All events are open to the public, and information and tickets may be obtained by calling the Faculté at 466-2196. The tickets for the banquet are $25 per couple and $12.50 per person.

Mrs. Maillet and Father Lacerte will be conferred honorary Doctor of Letters Degrees by Chancellor Jean Forest. Mrs. Maillet, author of Les Cordes-de-Bois, Pointe-aux-Coques, Don l'original, La Sagouine, and Mariaagelas, is the recipient of such awards as the Prix Champlain, the Governor General's Award, and the Prix Goncourt. The last is perhaps the most valued of French awards for literary excellence. It was presented to Mrs. Maillet in 1977 for the novel Les Cordes-de-Bois.

Mrs. Maillet was born in Bouctouche, New Brunswick, and took her university education at the Universities of Moncton and Montreal and Laval University.

As well as being a novelist of no mean repute, Mrs. Maillet has written for the theatre and has published a humorous guidebook for tourists entitled Acadia For Practically Nothing. She has also taught at Notre Dame College of Moncton, the University of Moncton, the Jesuit College of Quebec, Laval University, and the University of Montreal.

Mrs. Maillet was made an Officer of the Order of Canada in 1976. She is a member of the Royal Society of Canada and the French Canadian Academy.

Father Arthur Lacerte, Assistant Director of the Institut Pastoral of Saint-Paul University in Ottawa, was Rector of Collège Saint-Jean from 1957 to 1968 and Dean from 1965 to 1967. He also taught philosophy at the Collège and, during the years 1964 to 1967, taught psychology and sociology at the Edmonton School of Nursing.

He was a member of the University of Alberta Senate from 1965 to 1968, and member of the Association of Registrars of Alberta from 1966 to 1968. Father Lacerte was also the founder of the Jeunesses Musicales de l'Alberta.

He was born in Marcelin, Saskatchewan, in 1915, and was a student at Gregorianum University of Rome in the late 1930s.

John Schlosser Addresses Friends of the University

As Chairman of the University's Board of Governors, John Schlosser is participant in and witness to all important financial matters at the University. On 2 April, The Friends of the University heard Mr. Schlosser voice his opinions on a number of these matters. In addressing the organization's annual dinner meeting at Lister Hall, Mr. Schlosser said "I am convinced that we, as a university, do not have a right [for our basic funding] to call on a greater percentage of funds from the public purse than do hospitals, senior citizens, and other important government agencies, but we do have, and this is very important, the right and need to call on the public purse for specific additional funds." He added that these requests, which will come out of the Board's priority study, must be well documented and the need factually stated. "We must be convinced that our request will receive from government a first priority."

He also attended the Universities of Ottawa and Montreal.

Father Lacerte was a professor at Gravelbourg College in Saskatchewan from 1942 to 1951 when he was appointed Dean of the College. He served in that capacity until 1957 when he became Rector of Collège Saint-Jean. He was associated with Collège Saint-Boniface of Manitoba as a member of the Board of Advisors from 1968 to 1970 and as a professor from 1973 to 1975.

Faculté Saint-Jean has a rich tradition as an instructional and cultural centre. Everyone is well to reflect on that tradition and be present at the furtherance of it only 4 May. □

He told the Friends that it is the Board's challenge to create the environment for academic excellence within the monetary limits of the public purse. "The University," he said, "must continue its efforts to convince the Government that a policy of stable funding is not in the interests of the people of this Province. The intellectual resources of the Province will be required on an increasing scale as the rapid growth of the material exploitation of the natural resources continues to expand."

Mr. Schlosser said a classic example of the University's failure to communicate its multiple goals appeared in the funding mechanism and the discussions on how it should be amended. During the growth years, he explained, a formula was devised to fund universities. As in most multi-university provinces, the formula was based on enrolment units weighted according to some rough measure of program costs in the area within which the students enrolled. Universities were experiencing growth in all their programs but the formula was designed to be responsive to student enrolment only, he said. During an era when the University was rapidly expanding such a formula met the requirements of the University adequately and the formula as then developed did, to a certain extent, take into account the fact that certain Faculties required more expensive facilities in order to function (continued on page two)

Metro Gulutsan 1925-1979

On 6 April Professor Metro Gulutsan, 53, died suddenly in a tragic two-vehicle collision near North Battleford, Saskatchewan. On the tenth he was interred in the family burial plot in Canora, Saskatchewan.

Born in Buchanan in the same province to pioneer parents of East European background (Ukrainian father/Romanian mother), Professor Gulutsan effectively combined his ancestral origins with his academic discipline to become the University of Alberta's specialist in educational psychology with special reference to eastern Europe. He was for many years a member, then chairman, of the University's Committee for East European and Soviet Studies, and in 1974 became Director of the Division of East European Studies, to the establishment of which he gave unstintingly of his time and energy while carrying out his normal responsibilities in the Department of Educational Psychology.

Professor Gulutsan held degrees from the University of Saskatchewan (BA, 1947; BEd, 1952) and the University of California, Berkeley (PhD, 1962). As an educational psychologist in Saskatchewan's Department of Education (1949-60), he embarked upon intermittent graduate studies in 1955. After two years as instructor in the College and Faculty of Education at the University of British Columbia, he joined the Faculty of Education in Edmonton in 1962, rising to the rank of full professor in 1974. His early research and teaching interests consisted of classroom learning and human development (especially personality development), followed by second-language learning and education and psychology in the Communist countries of Europe. Besides English, he spoke and read Ukrainian and Russian well and, to complement his growing interest in East European studies, he acquired considerable competence in reading and conversational French, German, and Romanian.

As a scholar, he published numerous articles, translated from the Russian, and presented papers and conducted seminars in North America and Europe. In September 1972 he was a member of the first Canadian academic delegation to the USSR under the Canada-USSR exchange agreement signed in October 1971. And in December 1972 the Minister of External Affairs appointed him to the Canada-USSR mixed governmental commission on academic exchanges. At the time of his death, he was a very active member of the Central and East European Studies Society of Alberta (which he founded in 1975) and president of the Central and East European Studies Association of Canada (which he had help to establish in 1977). He was also in the throes of negotiating the development of an Institute of Central and East European Studies in Alberta.

Despite cataracts in both eyes which greatly impaired his vision, Professor Gulutsan's achievements were numerous and most significant. He will be sorely missed in East European studies for his leadership; in educational psychology for the fresh insights which his unique background, talents, and interests enabled him to bring; and on campus generally for his cheery disposition, symbolized best perhaps by "Malanka," Ukrainian New Year's Eve at the Faculty Club, which he introduced in 1973 and which has since become a highlight of the festive season at the University.

His home near the campus was always open to his many friends, on- and off-campus, in Canada and abroad. The deepest sympathies of all are extended to the members of the family who survive him—Lena, his wife, and their three children, William, Peter, and Lona.

The memorial service for Dr. Metro Gulutsan will be held on Saturday, 21 April, at 2:30 p.m. on the 4th floor lounge of Education North.

effectively. However, he said, the formula was never based on any formal review of all programs conducted by this modern, complex University.

Regarding the University's financial requirements, Mr. Schlosser cited more lead time (on the order of two or three years) for budgetary projections, additional funding for specific situations, an adequate percentage increase that is realistic in consideration of government guidelines, and consideration for increases in operating costs.

Mr. Schlosser referred to The Friends of the University as a very important part of the University fabric. "The Henry Marshall Tory lectures enhance the knowledge and interest of the community; your supplementary scholarships are a benefit to the students; the acquisition of rare first editions and other treasures adds much to our library. Your support of this University is welcomed by all; your work is greatly appreciated," he said. □

Concert Choir Prepares for Tour

Each spring the University of Alberta Concert Choir becomes a peripatetic ensemble. However, the University community and the citizenry of Edmonton and environs will have an opportunity to hear the Choir before it departs for concerts in Leduc and Three Hills, concerts which precede a major tour of Germany and Austria.

On Wednesday, 25 April, the Choir and Conductor Larry Cook will present a Gala Benefit Concert in Convocation Hall beginning at 8 p.m. Excerpts from the tour repertoire will be performed by the eighty member Choir (forty-eight of the singers have been selected for the tour). This repertoire includes the forty-voice motet Spem in alium by Thomas Tallis, the world premiere performance of Four Newfoundland Folk Songs arranged for male choir by Violet Archer, two other compositions written especially for the Concert Choir (The Ninetieth Psalm by Gerhard Krapf, and Un Canadien errant arranged by Michael Perman, both works premiered by the Choir in mid-February), and the Magnificat Pentecostes, a German work from 1619 which was discovered and edited for performance by Dr. Cook.

Guest speakers at the Gala Benefit Concert will be Hans Gert Rademacher, Vice-Consul, The Federal Republic of Germany, and Brian Harris, Acting Chairman, Department of Music. The special festive occasion will be complemented by a champagne reception at the intermission. Proceeds from the concert will be used for the tour fund.

Tickets for the Gala Benefit Concert are $10 each and may be purchased at HUB Box Office, Woodwards, and the Department of Music.

The University of Alberta Concert Choir, founded in 1970, is open by audition to all students at the University, and nearly every faculty is represented in the Choir's membership. The Choir, which maintains a repertoire ranging from Renaissance motets to contemporary folk song arrangements, sings frequently throughout the University term, collaborates regularly with University Orchestra and Opera productions, and has been featured on a number of radio and television broadcasts. □
